Judge Hutchins has two strong counts against the Courier-Journal. Firstly, he ought to use that paper for putting another man's picture in the sketch of his own record; and, twicely, he ought to sue it for printing in another place a very bad picture of General Garfield and labeling it "Morris Campbell Hutchins."

But then, all this happened in Louisville, and down there "everything goes" this week.

The first regular professional team established was the Cincinnati Club in 1868.

This was the first regular salaried team, and from that year, therefore, may be dated the existence of professional ball playing, their career on the field during the year of 1869 standing as the best on record for any professional club in the country.

From October, 1868, to June, 1870, they did not meet with single defeat. Ten men constituted the team, and the salary list was $30,000.

The Flemingsburg team "that didn't help the Mayvilles defeat the Cincinnati" played the Carlises the other day, and The Gazette says:

"Some of our baseball players went up to Carlisle last Thursday and played the nine there a game with bad results. When nine innings had been played the score stood 25 to 5 in favor of Carlisle. Our boys accepted their inglorious defeat good naturedly, however, and are arranging for another game to be played here, in which they hope to redress themselves."

Here's the way the League umpires treat a club they don't like. This game was the second Pittsburgh-Washington

"The Umpire kept the teams at play until Pittsburgh got a run ahead on a hit that Charley Abbey couldn't find, let alone see. He let play go on until the Senators got a man on first, and then 'called all bets off.' A Pittsburgh historian says of the force: 'The lights in the Exposition Building, opposite the grounds, had been burning for an hour or more. The crowds on the bleachers had impaled torches in the slats of folded newspapers. They lighted them and held them high above their heads, and the grounds looked for all the world like a lawn fire at midnight.'"

Do not wear impermeable and light-tight clothes that obstruct the blood vessels of the scalp. Use Hall's Hair Renewer occasionally, and you will not be bald.

Scott Shearer of Ford was shot in the arm and leg by Will Parish. Both are colored. A dispute over a card game was the cause.

Colonel John R. Coyne was walking along the C. and O. track near the Cemetery yesterday morning when he narrowly escaped being struck by a passing freight.

Papers that speak of the late Hon. W. H. Wadsworth of this city as "Judge James Wadsworth" are in bad shape to criticize the Louisville Post on account of local geographical inaccuracies.

STRAY SHOTS.

What Baseballists Are Doing All Around and About Us.

The Mayvilles sustained their first shot out yesterday.

With Wellner in the box, the Hopkinsvilles only got eight hits.

Here's the summary:

Innings. 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10

Hopkinsville..... 0 0 0 1 0 0 3 0 0 4

Runners scored—Hopkinsville.

Base hits—O'Wellner 5, of 6 bails.

Errors—Mayville 1, Hopkinsville 3.

Struck out—By Bailey 3, by Wellner 1.

Batteries—Mayville, Wellner and Zimmer; Hopkinsville, Bailey and Ford.

The Cleveland captured the majority of the series with Baltimore—6 to 5.

The Knoxville have won six straight from Huntington. Wiley Davis held the West Virginians down to four hits Tuesday.

The Locals will arrive home today. It is not known exactly when the next game will be played here, but it is hoped that it will be only a very short time.

Two more famous Leaguers are talking of retiring this year. It is possible that both Jimmy Ryan and Will Hutchison will go into business after this hot war is over.

The New Bedford and Hartford teams played three games of nine innings each in three different cities in one day—New Bedford, Taunton and Providence—July 4th, 1878.

Schriver, catcher for the Chicago Club in 1893 and recently released by New York, caught a ball dropped from the top of the Washington Monument at Washington, D. C., August 27th, 1894.

The Covington Commonwealth, in giving the score and summary of the New York-Cincinnati game, has New York credited with 7 earned runs and Cincinnati 4, when the two clubs combined only made 5 runs.

It is more than likely that Jess Tannehill will pitch the Mayvilles to victory against the Reds at Cincinnati next Thursday. The Reds will have Wiley Davis in the box against the Locals. Our boys, in one of the Knoxville games, secured 14 hits off the bayoned phenomenon down there, and if he is put in to pitch for the Reds the Locals will give him a regular trouncing. With Tannehill in the box the Locals can win easily.

We believe that the needs of our patrons may be as fully and conveniently supplied under this arrangement, equally as well as under the old system of keeping open late at night as soon as it shall be known by publication, with the advantage of giving both employer and employee much needed rest as well as greater opportunity for the enjoyment of home pleasures, being now altogether deprived of our "evenings at home."

This agreement is not to be binding unless signed by every Drygoods Merchant in the city.

Any firm desiring to terminate this agreement may do so by giving ten days' notice thereof to all signers hereto.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT.

UNCLE SAM'S WEATHER CLERK ON THE PROSPECTS.

Condition of Cereals and the Small Crops Throughout Kentucky Up to Monday Evening Last.

The crop growing season is drawing to a close, yet it is pleasing to note that the correspondents continue to send in their cheerful reports with interest unabated. That they should be faithful in forwarding them, and jubilant over the rich harvests the farmers have already reaped and the abundant crops which they are now housing, is not surprising when it is remembered how heartily the elements of weather have contributed to ward the success of the season's work on the farm. Better than all the fertilizers that can be produced is a continued spell of warm weather that is interrupted at most regular intervals by the occurrence of favorable showers.

This has been the character of the weather during the past week, showers temporarily suspending the warm sunshine that prevailed during the days. Although almost every county, with possibly a few exceptions, received some rainfall, the distribution was by no means uniform. Heavy showers occurred in the western Western counties and also in numerous counties scattered throughout other portions of the state. On the other hand, in some counties the amount of rainfall received was very light, and not being proportionate to the requirements of these respective localities, there is some complaint of drought. Even in Fayette county and other portions of the Bluegrass region stock water is scarce and pastures are drying up.

On the whole, however, the crop conditions are generally favorable, and even in those counties or sections where little or no rain was experienced during the week, the warm, dry weather had the effect of hastening the crops toward maturity, and the winding up of the season's business in the garden.

The early corn crop is now made beyond the weather's control, whether frost, or from possible drought. Cutting is in progress in many sections, and the crop is an exceptionally good one. Late corn is in generally fair condition, but is needing rain in some localities.

Although there may still be seen some green fields of tobacco, yet in most parts of the state cutting is in progress, and a considerable quantity has already been housed. Generally speaking, it is reported good condition, but there is still much complaint of damage by worms. Their ravages, however, are diminishing, as compared with last week's report, and it is thought probable that they will entirely cease during the next week or ten days.

Clover is in generally good condition, although there is complaint of it being choked by weeds.

Pastures are in excellent shape generally, and have been greatly improved in those sections where drought had prevailed.

Sorghum is being made up and is a good yield.

Melons are so abundant that acres of them are being fed to stock.

Chickage is rotting in some localities that have experienced rainfall too frequent during the season.

Winter apples are ripening prematurely.

KENTUCKY REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

We are opposed to the free and unlimited importation of foreign goods, believing that it would injure the country in financial ruin. We believe in a sound currency and in the use of both gold and silver for coinage, provided always that a dollar in coin is made practically as valuable as a dollar in the paper.

We favor a tariff as regulated as to protect the interests of all classes of our citizens upon articles that may be successfully manufactured or produced in this country, thus insuring good wages to the laborer and a home market to the producer, and in connection with the tariff the re-establishment of the doctrine of reciprocity. We believe that such a system will develop our Government, expand our commerce, increase our production, restore public confidence and relieve to the near the undue straitness now prevailing concerning currency. In view of the financial history of the Democratic party, its devotion to the old side bank system and its record, we deem that the Republican party can be more safely trusted to regulate the financial system of the Nation.

We favor an American policy which will protect American and American interests in any part of the world at all hazards and will sympathize with struggling Republics rather than tyrannical monarchies.

Uncle Sam's Shortage.

The deficit in the National Treasury for the present fiscal year—from July 1st to date—is $19,585,110 48.

During the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1894, under the McKinley Tariff, American farmers sold to Europe 87,568,280 bushels of wheat. During the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1895, under the Gorman Free-trade Tariff, American farmers sold to Europe only 75,521,630 bushels of wheat. This shows a loss of 12,046,650 bushels. Oh, my! How the American farmers are "capturing the markets of the world" under the tariff system of Democratic Free-trade.

It is enough to make the blood of every good American boil to read the drive along the bond syndicate "protecting the United States Treasury. Our Treasury got along very well without the "protection" of any syndicate from the organization of the Government until the present Administration came into power, and after the next Presidential election it will be released from the clutches of the Rhylocks who were given a bonus of more than $12,000,000 on the last bond deal for the bogus "protection" they are now affording it as no sort to UNSUCCESSFUL Attempt to Rob an Express Car on the Rio Grande Road.

Through a Blunder the Robbers Uncoupled the Wrong Car.

The Engineer Drove the Express Car Away, Leaving the Mail Car Standing Alone. This was the mail car, in which Mail Clerk H. M. Todd was preparing to resist.

WEVER, Col., Sept. 12.—An unsuccessful attempt at train robbery was made at 2:35 Wednesday morning by two men at Crevasse siding, on the line of the Rio Grande Western railway, near the Utah state line. When the regular westbound mail train stopped at the water tank, the robbers uncoupled the forward car from the train, and suddenly appearing before the astonished crew on the locomotive, ordered them to go ahead. At the end of the switch they ordered the locomotive to be detached from the car and drawn away, leaving the car standing alone. This was the mail car, in which Mail Clerk H. M. Todd was preparing to resist.

When the engineer saw the robbers proceed dynamite he told them he would get the clerk to open the door, and he was ordered to do in a hurry. The engineer went to the car door and told Todd that it was useless for him to resist as the men had dynamite and could blow him up, and it would be better to open the door. When the robbers told him to throw out any valuable express matter he might have within, Todd told them that the express car had been left with the train. They had uncoupled the wrong car.

The robbers then asked Todd if he had any registered mail in his car. Todd replied that he had sent a parcel of any description of registered matter, and suggested that they had better be looking after the express car if they expected to do business on that trip. Leaving the mail car, they started a few steps toward the train, and Todd made a jump for his revolver. At the same time there was a demonstration going on in the coaches, as the lights had been turned out. The robbers seemed to have been stricken with a sudden fear and without stopping to look in either direction the men made a dash into the high grass on the west side, as supposed they had horses concealed.

The train was detained only 50 minutes in all, and proceeded to Salt Lake.

Officers are now in hot pursuit with a good description of the men.

THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Rivalry of the Halfway Passenger Officials to Secure the Travel to Dallas, Tex.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Southwestern passenger officials are agitated over alleged attempts on the part of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road to get the lion's share of the business to Dallas for the prize fight. That road has had executed the expensive plans of the indomitable where the fight is made that the road has lost it. The company has already bought 235 of the choicest seats, at a cost of $47,700. It has also secured 100 more seats, which at the price to be paid is $13,300. If the fight does not come off, however, the money is to be refunded. The charge in making the deal is buying the tickets to get business, and the leverage is a strong one. Competing lines threaten to buy all the tickets of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road, and make the fight practically free to patrons of their roads. The demoralization threatens to extend to the railroad rates.

He died at last, however, well, where he was being treated for delirium tremens, and the body had been in the vat since September 4.

METS PARADE.

Louisville Does Herself More Than Proud.

Over Thirty Thousand Grand Army Men in the Line.

The Day Was All That Could Be Desired—The Grand Army Men Were Shown to Good Advantage—The Greatest Parade the Louisville Veterans Have Ever Seen.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12.—The day of the big parade was ushered in by the thunder of artillery. The streets were alive with people as early hour, and standing room along the line of march was at a premium. It is estimated that there were over 30,000 people in town Wednesday. The houses, both business and private, were early and naturally decked with flags, streamers and bunting, and the air resounded with the clash of brass instruments and the yell of thousands of drums.

The day was perfect, though hot and the only thing to mar the grand festival was the explosion of a bomb in the second division of the parade. The bomb was thrown by a man in the crowd and it was not until the explosion had been made that it was known that the bomb had been thrown.

Over 30,000 were in the parade Wednesday. All along the line of march men of southern birth and sentiment vied with their brethren from the north in their demonstration of greeting. It was a friendly and sincere tribute to the sentiment that was at the head of the procession, and which was worn on banners in great numbers.

The grand Columbia parade, which was the first of the day, was a most successful one. It was headed by the Grand Army of the Republic, which was followed by the various divisions of the Grand Army of the Republic.

First came Capt. J. H. Miller, bearing aloft a magnificent silver emblem of the stars and stripes. Six feet behind came Capt. Harrison, holding high a banner emblematic of peace and good will. Chief Marshal Henry S. Cobb and the members of the various divisions followed in order.

CAISSON EXPLODES.

While Pulling a Salute at Louisville a Terrible Accident Occurs—Three Men Killed and Two Wounded.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12.—A horrible accident, resulting in the death of seven and the wounding of several members of the Louisville Legion, occurred shortly after 2:30 Wednesday morning, by the explosion of a caisson.

The dead are Corporal A. L. Robinson, Artilleryman Charles Woods, Artilleryman Archibald McElrath and William Adams, colored driver.

The wounded, Fred Cobb, eyes and face badly burned, William Hobbs.

All the men excepting the colored driver were members of Battery A, of the Kentucky national guard, and all resided in Louisville.

The accident occurred on Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, where the First Kentucky artillery were stationed for the purpose of firing the morning salute.

Eye witnesses to the shocking accident say that the explosion was caused by dropping the case on the friction primer of the piece. The gun was situated directly in the center of the street, pointing toward Fourth avenue.

Two of the bodies were blown over the horse and were horribly mangled. The wounded have been removed to the hospitals. Two horses attached to the cannon were so horribly mangled that they will be killed.

Three of the men lost arms and legs. All of the clothing was torn from their bodies. One of the bodies was found lying between the street car tracks at Fourth and Broadway, another by the side of a tree box in front of W. C. Hall's house, at West Broadway.

Another was found by the side of a telephone pole, 80 feet from the corner of Fourth and Broadway. One was hurled through the window of a building on the east side of the street.

One of the bodies was found lying on the ground in front of the building, and another was found lying on the ground in front of the building.

The Syndicate Wednesday Deposited Three Million Dollars.

In Gold in Exchange for Greenbacks in the New York Sub-Treasury.

Since the Report Movement Shows $14,000,000 in Gold Has Been Exported—The Syndicate Expects Its Final Requirement at $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Shortly before 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Assistant Treasurer Jordan at New York telegraphed the treasury department that the syndicate had deposited $3,000,000 in gold coin in exchange for greenbacks. CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The South Carolina Delegates Meet at Columbia and Proceed to Beaufort.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 12.—The constitutional convention began its session Wednesday morning at Beaufort, S. C. President Evans announced his standing committees at the opening. Senator Ivey is chairman of the committee on declaration of rights.

Senator Tillman is in charge of the committee on rights of suffrage, which means the reporting of the Mississippi constitution with modifications. The majority has been given a pretty fair representation on the committee.

Mr. Henderson, of Alton, offered a resolution on the rights of suffrage and one to divorce, which were referred. Attention was called to the fact that the delegates had not taken the constitutional oath, and for three-quarters of an hour they were lively in the extreme. The convention did not wish to take the oath revealed in the end constitution and a 2-10 vote, but finally it was decided to do so. When four delegates had taken the oath, President Evans had taken the oath, Senator Tillman submitted that under the same constitution, if he took that oath he would have no objection to the constitution.

With all others holding United States offices, for the constitution distinctly said that no man holding an office could hold a state office. This was another offer.

"We are the people," he said, "we are not officers, but represent the sovereignty, and can not take the oath."

Gen. Scales, the Negro statesman, said the same question has arisen in the past, and he being a senator and United States congressman at the same time. He simply lost his way in the end constitution and a 2-10 vote.

The convention referred the matter to the judiciary committee to report whether they should take an oath on the constitution and a 2-10 vote. A recess was taken pending this report.

WEDNESDAY'S GAMES.

The winners were Pittsburgh, New York, Brooklyn and Washington.
